Description: Explain Everything is a downloadable whiteboard that you can use to create a poster-board, slideshow, or written notes. Explain Everything can be used by everyone that has an understanding of how to write and can follow a tutorial. It can create text boxes, insert shapes, and choose a variety of pens and colors to write in. You can also collaborate with others by sharing the file by email, record your screen, and join a presentation by code.

Impression: We like this app for more of teacher use than for students because it may be a little too complex for the younger students to navigate and understand. A teacher though can record the screen and explain what is on the screen which we thought was amazing because you can give them access to a file with a recording to help explain homework or to help parents understand the homework to help their student. This can be a great tool to help explain step-by step and give them access to that material outside of class.
