Description: This app is a virtual safari ride where you can interact with all kinds of animals. You can drive a jeep around the island to find the animals at the watering hole, asleep in the grass, or standing on the mountain side. You can interact with the animals and tell them to eat, play, run, call others, and so much more. It is very neat and lifelike.

Impression: We liked this app to help teach about safari animals and show other climates around the world. It does also have a polar bear and penguin in the polar climate that you can view. It would be something that students can view in a center and play around with while still learning about the different animals.
