

Teacher Wish List

Hello! My students and I are working diligently this school semester. I have loved getting to know your children and create fun memories with them. With the holidays coming up, I thought I would make a compiled list of all of my favorite things along with some things I have had my eyes on for a while. We have learned so many things already in the past 3 months. We are currently learning about the water cycle in science and phonic awareness in reading. My first graders are looking forward to our thanksgiving party next Monday. While I do not expect gifts or for you to buy supplies for the classroom, but it is greatly appreciated. If I want to purchase these items, it will be with my own money out of my pocket. A lot of items on the list are things I love and buy every year. Other items are things I have had my eyes on for a while I just have not gotten around to purchasing them yet. This list also gives your insight what supplies your children are using in the classroom which I think is very beneficial.
