App Evaluation Write Up

Name of App: Explain Everything

Evaluators: Kennedy Capps & Baylee Nahlen

Criteria	Comments
Title	Explain Everything
Version	5.2.4
Publisher	Explain Everything
Audience	This is targeted towards students. We wouldn't use this below second grade though.
Type	We believe that this would fall under the tools category because it is an app for students to use in conjunction with a topic they already know, it is not teaching anything.
Curriculum	This could be used in all content areas. It has great templates and blank pages for taking notes.
Environment(s):	This is great for the classroom and taking notes or doing projects.
Cost	If you didn't want to put in any credit card information, you had 14 days free. If you put in credit card info, you can have a month for free. After that you had to upgrade to a payment option. The payment options are: $107.99 for the unlimited plan for the year on an individual license or $12.99 for an unlimited plan for a month, also on an individual license.
Describe the app	The app has the option for you to start a project from a blank canvas or from templates. In the templates there are great things to use! It has a cause and effect chart, storyboard, timeline, and venn diagram. When you start from scratch you can draw pictures or take notes. There is so much freedom with this app and so many great things you can do. This app could be helpful in all subject areas.

Our impressions of the app	We were both really impressed with this app and we played with it for a long time! There are just so many helpful things you can do with this software. We both want to use this in the future. In history class the timeline template would be perfect for students to do a project on. The cause and effect and other templates are also extremely helpful. We really liked that you can share your documents. This way students can share their work with the teacher. Also if the teacher made something she could share it with the students.
Does the app pass?	Yes the app most definitely passed!