How to make a sedimentary rock

I would use this how-to video to show my students how to create an example of a sedimentary rock. We will be studying and looking at the 3 main types of rocks, so this will give students a hands-on experience in seeing what a sedimentary rock looks like. Since the video is recorded, I will be able to walk around and help students while they are doing the craft. I will also be teaching students about the different particles that could be included in a real-life sedimentary rock. We will sit the rocks the students make in the class and let them dry for a few days then they will be able to take them home!
