

Kahoot

Kahoot is a tool used to quiz students. It can be used to issue surveys as well. I have seen it used to take attendance in class. Kahoot makes taking quizzes in class more interactive and more fun for the students. You can make games to help students study for tests that they have coming up and they can have a little competition in the class. I would use this in class to make a game for a test coming up and for those that won the game I would offer bonus points on the test.

Quizlet

Quizlet is a tool used to help teachers and students build study guides for tests. Teachers or students can take content from units and develop online flashcards for it. There is also an option that they can quiz themselves on it. I would use this in class to make study guides instead of giving out a paper one. For those students that do not have internet access at home I would offer a printout of the note cards.

ClassDojo

Classdojo is a tool used to provide feedback for students. Teachers can take videos or offer feedback through text on it. It is a quick way for teachers to get feedback to all their students in an effective manner. Parents can also get involved and teachers can send feedback to parents about their children in class. I would use this in class to send photos and videos to parents to let them know how their kids are doing in class. I would also use this tool to help keep track of good behavior and provide bonus opportunities based on good behavior.
