

There are several ways Padlet can be used in my classroom. Students can use it as a discussion board. It could be used as an assessment. The students would type in their answers.

I discovered that on-line tools can be helpful to teachers. It can help students that might learn better through a screen. I like that there is a variety of on-line tools to choose from and that they can help with more than just a lesson. I dislike that something I want to do with the tools I have to pay for.
