

Dear Parent/Guardian,

An AUP is an important informational document that contains rules, rights, responsibilities, and consequences of a particular environment. I have created an acceptable use policy for my classroom, and I would like for you to have the opportunity to implement one at home as well. I have created a template for you, as parents, to use in the home if you would choose to do so. Implementing an acceptable use policy at home will not only help the behavior at home, but in the classroom as well. When a child has rules and consequences for breaking those rules that are consistent in both the home and in the classroom, the child's behavior will show great results. Please feel free to use this template or create your own to fit both you and the child. The home AUP template is located under the AUP section of my website labeled "Home AUP".
