

Dear Parent/Guardian,

I would like for you to consider creating a set of guidelines for your child's internet use at home. The internet is a wonderful thing and can be a great resource for kids to use, but it is important for them to use it properly. In today's society there are many dangers that can accompany internet use. It is important for children to be taught to use this resource properly. Some things you might wish to discuss are use of chat rooms and social media, sharing personal information, and screen time limits. I will provide an outline for you to use to create a home use policy if you are interested.

Sincerely,

Gabby Darnell
