Education is the beginning of every career. A solid education contributes greatly to an individual's success. As a future educator, I hope to help my students become well prepared individuals for their future. I will be teaching Mid-Level Mathematics and Language Arts. These subjects are different, but they both hold skills that are used in everyday life. As an educator, I hope to instill a love of Mathematics and Language Arts in my students. The school is the training program for the next generation of workers, homemakers, and world-changing individuals. I will do my best to train my students in the skills they will need.

Students need care, guidance, social experiences, and knowledge. It is important to me that all my students receive all the necessities and skills they need to grow socially and knowledgeably while they are growing physically. Educators are responsible for providing needs and presenting skills. On the other hand, I believe students are largely in control of their own education. I believe their attitude towards education is a factor in their success as a student. It is important for educators to foster a good atmosphere in their classroom to promote positive attitudes concerning education in their students. A student's choice to study and work hard is important in making the teacher's instruction effective. As an educator, I will help my students realize that they are in control of their own education. I will help them recognize choices and attitudes that will help or hurt their student success.

I also believe social interaction is vital in a classroom learning environment. I will stress to students that working together and building social skills will help prepare them for their futures as well as build their understanding of a subject. Being a role model to my students will be a very important job. I hope to model how to treat others, deal with situations civilly, and to be a good friend and contributing member of society. I will nurture each student to help them develop into individuals who are positive and encouraging to others. I will nurture my students with positive feedback and encouragement when they are struggling. This will help their confidence and hopefully effect how they encourage and provide feedback to peers. Learning to work and communicate with others is an important part of education and future careers.

As an educator I will also address the diversity among learners and individuals. My responsibility as the instructor will be to ensure effective instruction to all my students, and to accommodate for each learning style. I will not try to change how a student learns or thinks. Instead, I will encourage their creativity and diversity by guiding them to learn and discover on their own. I will strive to develop lesson plans that are effective and meaningful for each learning style and each disability. Diversity will also be addressed in my classroom management. I recognize that each class and group will be unique. I plan to tailor my classroom management to each class period.

I hope to be an effective instructor, role model, and nurturer to my students. Being an effective instructor will be heavily based upon the type of environment I create in my classroom. I hope to create a safe and effective environment in which all learners can gain knowledge and skills. I also hope this environment will encourage creativity, discovery, participation, and respect. Education is so important to everyday life. I hope to spread my love for learning with my students. I want to encourage my students to reach their full potential and try their best in everything they do. I hope to create a learning atmosphere that accommodates every learner and promotes a positive educational experience. My ultimate goal as an educator is to prepare my students for their future as much as I can. If I can teach my students the skills and qualities necessary for their future while also getting them to realize they are largely in control of their own education, I will consider myself successful. This will be difficult task, but it will be worth it.
