

Write Ups

Jadyn Brown & Tariane King

Title: Duolingo

Version: 6.39.0

Publisher: Duolingo, Inc.

Target Audience: The publisher states that this app is for ages 4+ but we both think the user should be older, like 7 and up because you will have to be able to read and understand the concept that they are learning, because they will be learning different languages.

Cost: This app was free, but there were in- app purchases which were different bundles and gems that came with the game that you have to pay for which costs $2.99-4.99 to get them.

Type of Software: Tutorial: This is a tutorial app because it teaches the user how to learn a different language. There are different levels the user will go through and the app goes at your pace and allows you multiple attempts to try to answer one of the questions.

Curriculums: This app does fit into the curriculum because it is teaching the user different languages and it is showing them how to learn the language while playing the game.

Describing the Software: The Duolingo app is a tutorial app that teaches users the most popular way to learn different languages. There are so many different languages the users can choose from and it will allow you to choose beginner or it will test you to see how far you are in the content. It then takes you into different levels that teaches you how to say a word in a different language or learn a phrase in a different language. Once it has taught you the phrase, it will take you to a different level where you will have to listen to it and pick the words that you think it is saying. If you get it wrong it will let you redo it over and over, and it will also allow you to look at the right answer.

Impressions of the Software: We both really liked this app, but we thought it was too advanced for the grade level that we plan to teach. Even though this app isn't appropriate for our age group, other teachers could definitely implement this app into their future classrooms, and they could have a lot of fun with this app. They could choose a different language each month and just learn a little content and use this app and play around with it.

Pass: Yes
