

Learning Music Mini Lesson

Grade Level: 3rd

Curriculum Topic: Music

Tools: Wild Symphony interactive Book and iPads

After learning about the topic in music as a class on the Orchestra, students will pair up in groups to read the book Wild Symphony by Dan Brown. For this lesson the students will be using the Wild Symphony interactive book to learn about the orchestra. The students would use their iPads to scan the pages in the book and listen to the many music options that are included in the book. They would be in groups of two during the lesson so that they can share their technology in order for every student to get a chance. After going through the book as pairs we will come back as a class and discuss the variety of music they discovered. They will each share their favorite part of the book and what they learned at the end of the lesson.
