

Title: Wikipedia (Discover Learning)

Version: 6.5.1

Publisher: Wikimedia Foundation

Target audience: 17+

Type of software with justification: Discovery learning, because the user has total control over what is to be learned.

Curriculum: All, it's an encyclopedia.

Cost: Free

Description of software:

This software is an encyclopedia free to use and free to edit by all. It allows you to search freely to find information on every topic imaginable. It also allows you to save pages of information for later review.

Impression of software (how it will be used in a classroom):

This software could be used in a classroom to get a student's foot in the door on certain topics. This means that it can be used to spark a student's information for further research, but since Wikipedia is known to not be a reliable source it should not be used in the final product of an academic assignment.

Does the software pass APPS?: Yes