Target: The targeted age group for this app is 4 years old and up. This app was specifically made for ages 9-11. It is so interactive I think all ages would enjoy it.

Curriculum: This app does fit into the curriculum because you can pretty much guide questions about history or science or both just a lot of stuff to use as a good learning tool.

Environment: This app could be used inside or outside of the classroom. It would be good to use in the classroom as a group to spark discussion within your class.

Cost: This app does have in-app purchases most of the other characters you can buy for $.99 but some are more like $1.99

Description of Software: This software allows students to interact with Albert Einstein by asking him the questions that pop up at the bottom of the screen the students get options of which ones they want to pick. Then he answers them truthfully about his life and his childhood. It's really awesome because of its great animation and there is a very long pause between each response.

Impression of Software: My impression of the app is good because it is really fun and very well put together. I wish it had more characters unlocked but there is a way you can work up to that it is so fun and interactive for the kids. Not to mention they will learn a lot and not really even notice it because it is so laid back and fun.

Pass: This software passes the education software evaluation form because it allows easy access to all aspects of the app and is very interactive and easy to use.
