

PADLET

Padlet is an incredible tool to use in your classroom. This app could be used for a variety of different projects. This app would be good for group projects, so the students could help each other if something was difficult. Some examples of projects to do in your class could make a timeline, make a book review, make a presentation, do a story analysis, and so much more.

Online tools are a great way for children to integrate technology into the classroom. There are so many different online tools that can help enhance lessons for children. Online tools can help in a lot of different subject areas and they can be used for all different ages. Online tools for children can be a fun way of learning.
