

Educational Software Write-Up

Title—Box Island

Version—2.2.0

Publisher—Radiant Games ehf.

Target Audience—Ages 4+, Made for Ages 9-11

Curriculum(s)—There isn't a huge variety of different content on this app because it just has the one game, but it has so much within that so it is a very educational app for what it is!

Cost—This app was free and there were no in-app purchases.

Description of Software—In this app, you learn simple ways of coding. It is a fun and interactive app, especially for younger children. Basically, you create a character and give it a nickname and then it gives very easy instructions on how to get your character from their current spot to where they need to go. It gets more challenging each round, but it isn't hard by any means.

Impression of Software—We were very impressed with this app! It would be really helpful to use as an introduction to coding. We think it would be easier to do it through technology while they're getting their feet wet. Neither of us had seen an app like this before, but it functions really well and there is so much content on it for it to work so well. We liked that it was so simple because any student would be able to use it.

Does the app pass? Yes
