Curriculum(s)—This app could be used for both the teacher and student. There is so much you can create on it so it would be an easy way to communicate assignments to students. There are lots of interactive activities on this app.

Cost—This app is free, but to upgrade to the pro version, it is $8.33 a month.

Description of Software—In this software, you can make your own, view examples, or join a padlet. It can used for asking questions for group discussions and could be a good way for interacting with students or even other teachers. This would be another good app for doing work with groups because you can get easy feedback.

Impression of Software—We feel like this app is much more geared towards teachers rather than students. It would be easy for a teacher to navigate, but we personally think it would be more challenging for students to get around. We think it would be a cool app to use for surveying students or even doing a bell ringer.
