

Educational Software Write-Up

Title—QR Reader

Version—4.4

Publisher—TapMedia Ltd

Target Audience—Ages 12+ for the following: Infrequent/Mild Mature/Suggestive

Themes/Mild Alcohol, Tobacco, or Drug Use or References

Curriculum(s)—The app does what the description says it does so it can be used for scanning codes once students get more into learning how to do that.

Cost—This app was free, but there was a section that you could browse different shopping sites. This is where we determined that it may not be appropriate for students to be able to browse this independently because they will have access to all of these shopping sites and it could lead to things that may be borderline inappropriate.

Description of Software—This software is pretty basic and self-explanatory. There were only 5 options at the bottom of the screen so it was easy to navigate and easy to learn how to use. As far as the scanning part goes, it's just like any other app where you can scan codes. We were just very confused, but also intrigued at the shopping section of this app.

Impression of Software—It seems to be a much older software. We were impressed by the other features that it had, but it just scans the same as any other app would. We don't think that it provides much for learning as far as the students go. We feel like this would be a good app for teachers to just show and tell rather than give the students full reign to explore and use it.

Does the app pass? No
