

Dear Parents or Guardians,

I am so excited to get to know your children as my students for this year and can't wait to start having fun in our classroom! Before we can have fun and start learning we must discuss the rules of our classroom, which can also be called an acceptable use policy or AUP. This AUP in our classroom is a list of rules for our class regarding their behavior in the classroom, their technology use, and their internet use. It also discusses the consequences that go along with breaking any of the rules and how we will implement them.

You have been given two forms for both you and your child regarding the acceptable use policy in our classroom, as well as, implementing one of your own at home. It is very important that you go over these with your children before the school year starts, as we will be reviewing and discussing them as a class the first week of school. It is beneficial for both of us if you choose to go over the template I have provided for you and set your own rules between you and your child. This way they are aware that they are being held accountable for their choices at home and in the classroom. I look forward to the first day of school and officially meeting your child!

Sincerely,

Lindsay Lewis
