Software Evaluation:
This app is rated EVERYONE but, in my opinion, is relevant for K-2 grade level. This is great app to teach responsibility to children. The grown-up logs in and creates tasks for the student using a variety of task card (pictures). You can also take your own pictures or use voice recordings. The task type is at the grown-up's discretion. Once this is set up, the student takes over. They click on the task and, when complete, mark the star. For every star they mark, they receive a fish for their virtual fish tank.

The settings for this app cannot be accessed without holding the button for 3 seconds, which you wouldn't want your students to know. This is a perfect app for students learning responsibility and independence. It's also a great way for teachers to ensure students are getting things done. Navigation is extremely simple. It would be great for parents as well. The pictures are pretty basic but can definitely be beefed up.
