

Lesson Plan from Scratch

Grade Level: Kindergarten

Subject: Reading

Standard: RL.K.3 With prompting and support, identify characters, settings, and major events in a story

Objectives: Students will be able to pay attention to story and give feedback on the story as well as with prompting, identify important parts of the story.

What we will do: The class will go to the reading center and sit on the reading rug. I will read a book to the students. For this lesson it will be If You Give A Mouse A Cookie. With prompting students will be asked to identify key events, setting, major characters, etc. from the story.

Student Interaction: The students will be asked questions along the way to keep them interested.

Inspiration connection: Could have the web made ahead of time and use it to demonstrate to the students, or the students could help make the web at the end of the lesson by telling me what the main characters are etc. and where things need to go on the web.

Assessment: Assessment will be informal

IEP's and 504's: Accommodations will be made for students with IEPs and 504s.

Materials needed for lesson: Students will not need any materials. Teacher will need, the book and access to computer and projector to use inspiration.
