Title: BrainFox - IPhone

Version: 1.17

Publisher/Creator: Sharply Labs Ltd

Target Audience: This app is designed for young kids and older people who are trying to keep their brain trained

Type of software: Problem solving because it designed to make you think about problems and come up with solutions that are not just there. You have to think about each problem and come up with your own answers.

Curriculum: I would not use this in my curriculum just because it is not really subject education based.

Cost: $59.99/year after 7 day free trial

Description: BrainFox is meant to help the user challenge their brain. It is a personalized game-based training program. The answers to the brain challenges are not apparent and really make you think.

Impression: The game is so expensive so I did not download but it has really great reviews. It is a 4.8/5. Reviews say it has a great design and fun sounds that go along with it.

Does the software pass review? Yes

Does the software pass the evaluation? Yes