

Community Grocery Store Prices

Do you take your child to the grocery store with you?

Students in Miss Shoukletovich's class have researched the prices of various food items at three different grocery stores in the community.

Save money and learn about economics!

Our class decided to make the results public to help our local community members shop smarter and save money! The three stores my class focused on were Kroger, Walmart, and Harp's

Graph your way to more money

Students compared the total price data of various items from all three stores in terms of regular, sale, and bulk price. The comparison graph of all three stores is shown below
