IMovie

Version: 2.2.5 (one of a series)

Publisher: Apple

Target Audience: All ages

Curriculum: This app fits into the curriculum of a STEM based school because it focuses mainly on the use of technology by allowing users to create movies and videos.

Cost: This app is free to download with no in-app purchases.

Software description: This software is set up to be used for creative tasks like making a movie and/or video. This software uses a variety of different enhancements including sound effects, transitions, backgrounds, and timing. This app has great sound effects, transitions, and can be used in a variety of ways. After the user takes the time to create a movie, they are able to save it and present it as a movie to specific individuals, if needed. This software allows the user to directly share it by email, social media, or by a file.

Impression of software: After taking the time to familiarize myself with the software, has allowed it to become easier to use. This software has great enhancements and has continuous updates to continue making the app even better. The one bad aspect of this app is that it does take time to learn, however, it is a great tool that would be great for academic terms.

Does it pass? Yes, the application passes the evaluation.
