

Mini-Lesson 3 : The Bill of Rights

1. Grade: 4th
2. Curriculum: Bill of Rights
3. Tools: Naiku is a tool that teachers can use to create quizzes that students can answer using a device and it is a great way for you to check their understanding either through or after the lesson. Lino is another online tool you can use to be interactive with your students. This online tool is a virtual corkboard of stick notes so students can provide questions or comments on their learning. These can be used as exit tickets, or even bell ringers to start the class or topic of discussion.
4. Synopsis: I want to use the Naiku app at the end of the lesson to check understanding over the 10 amendments we went over that are in the Bill of Rights and if they can tell me what they are and why there are only ten. I would like to use the Lino tool to be a bell ringer to start the lesson and ask for them to tell me anything they know about the Bill of Rights or if they do not know something they wish to know as we cover this topic.
5. I plan on Individually for the Lino app for their own knowledge or what they hope to know, then Whole Class for the Naiku app or online tool to check understanding at the end we will be taking the quiz together.
