

Integrated iMovie Story Board

This iMovie was created to be a visual and help teach the children their 5 W's and an H (Who, What, When, Where, Why, and How).

Five W's and an H

- Who is a person.
- What is a thing or an action.
- When is a time.
- Where is a place.
- Why is the reason something happened.
- How is the number, or the way something his done.

Now let's practice!!

I used iMovie for this integrated movie; I would use it again if I had a little more knowledge on how to work it or if I could use it on my computer (which is not an Apple computer). I struggled with finding pictures that would actually fit the screen of the iMovie and editing was a little confusing.

Some other ways I could use video in my classroom are for teaching songs to the children, using videos with songs as transitions, using videos with songs as brain breaks, and using videos to show how to do something or an example of something.
